HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

Report has been made by a committee of Doylestown Emergency Police that the township is not adequately protected in case of fire. It was suggested that steps be taken to remedy the situation.

The committee, which conducted its survey over a period of three months, found that some sections of the township have very poor protection against fire as the result of some wells having little water. The committee found also that a large number of properties have no dams from which water might be taken in case of fire.

A committee in the near future will visit property owners for the purpose of interesting them in constructing dams or other types of reservoirs. The survey was also made to give firemen information concerning the sources of a water supply in case of fire.

Announcement was made that a representative of the state police will instruct new members of the police force in methods of investigating highway accidents.

Report was made that the police had assisted in investigating a highway accident a few days before Christmas. One of the drivers required hospital treatment, and it was found he had $3000 in cash on his person and a large number of toys in his car. The police took charge of the money and toys and turned them over to proper authorities.

STATE PLANNING BOARD ASKS BIDS ON 22 HOUSES TO BE ERECTED IN THE BRISTOL AREA; PREFERENCE TO "VETS"

Bidders Must Supply Site Which Must Be Within Area Served by Utilities of Bristol — Houses to Rent for $45 to $65 a Month — Cost, $2500 to $4500

The State Planning Board has asked for bids on 22 houses to be erected in the Bristol area.

The houses are to be built under Pennsylvania's $15,000,000 housing subsidy program. A survey was recently made here when an "H" Day was held for the purpose of listing those who might be interested in renting such properties. While the project is not confined exclusively to veterans, it was stated that veterans have the preference.

At the time of the survey it was stated that about 50 prospective renters had expressed an interest.

Bidders must supply the site which must be within an area served by the utilities of Bristol.

Under the plan as outlined previously it was stated that the State would pay $72,000 or 35% of the amount allocated for the project here. The contractor is to pay the remaining 65% which is to be amortized over a period of 28 years.

It is said that the houses will rent for $45 to $65 per month and cost between $2500 and $4500.

In Harrisburg today the State Planning Board said that locations for the proposed housing projects are not known at this time.

A spokesman for the board explained that bidders on the projects submit proposals for possible locations 10 days in advance of the opening of bids on February 27th.

The board spokesman could give no details regarding the specific type of projects to be constructed. He said the preliminary proposals call for a garden type building consisting of four one-bedroom units, 12 two-bedroom units, and six three-bedroom units with a maximum subsidy of $72,934.

LONG FLIGHT, SHORT WAVE

Is the pulse of a radar signal, imperceptible to man, to help solve the mystery of how birds are guided on migrations? Up in Manitoba the Wildlife Management Institute has been aiming radar beams at flocks of ducks. Those that were just flying around the marshes were not affected. But whenever the beam struck a bunch of birds flying high on a steady southward course, the effect was startling. They broke and flared out of formation as if fired at by a shotgun, reforming a bit later.

Twin mysteries of migration are these: What makes birds migrate? And what keeps them on course?

It is an assumption that cold weather sends birds South. Many leave while feed is plentiful and the temperature balmy. One thing seems constant: Birds that arrive in the spring tend to leave in the fall when the length of day is about the same as when they came. Sensitivity to light seems to affect their movement.

No one really knows the first thing about how birds fly compass courses without a compass. There may be a sixth sense. The Manitoba experiments seem to show that whatever it is that guides ducks on migration, radar impulses derange it. Electricity must be mixed up in it some place in the ultra-short-wave category.

So far all that is known is that radar is a way to annoy ducks at long range. Something like the old trick played on a rooster: He pecks at a grain of corn only, to have it move away at the end of a piece of string pulled by a small boy. But science always likes to have a search narrowed down. Perhaps electronics will hold the key to the mystery of migration.

ASTRONOMICAL!

The number of Christmas cards dispatched in 1949 reached the astronomical total of 1,500,000,000, according to final figures released by the greeting card industry. Postmen are surprised that it was so small.

Christmas cards account for one-half of the annual output of the industry. Production of greeting cards has tripled in the last 10 years.

Although the market for the product is largely seasonal, with one-half of a year's output sold in the month before Christmas, creation and publication of other holiday lines and "every day" cards continue the year round.

Work on Christmas cards begins a year and a half in advance. Individual companies market as many as 1,000 individual cards. Eighteen thousand persons are employed in manufacturing greeting cards, New York, Ohio and Illinois leading, in that order.

What a relief it would be if one could only see again some government figures in terms of less than a billion dollars.

An intrepid American who penetrated ancient Tibet comes back with the usual report. That country would also like to negotiate a loan.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Mar. 7, 1901. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

TULLYTOWN — The board of school directors has installed a large new bookcase in the upper room of the school. William Moon, built the case and the finishing and varnishing was done by Charles Bennett.

TULLYTOWN — The first meeting of the new council was held on Monday evening.

After the administering of the oath to the members elect, the council proceeded to organize by re-electing last year's officers. The officers elected are: President, Dr. C. H. Read; clerk, A. R. Wagenknight; treasurer, A. R. Headley; street commissioner, A. R. Wagenknight.

Morris Hellyer, local superintendent of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., has won the distinction of attaining the best average of business of any superintendent in 13 districts.

Mrs. Adelia Andrews has sold to William Trudgen the brick residence on Radcliffe street now occupied by George W. Strausser. The price paid is said to have been $3400.

To look into the muzzle of a loaded revolver in the hands of a sturdy burglar is very unpleasant at any time, but that is what J. Howard Marshall, of Langhorne Manor, was compelled to do when he visited his summer cottage on his farm at Woodbourne station, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Marshall, with his coachman, drove over to the farm to inspect the house, which had been closed all winter. On alighting from the carriage he saw nothing unusual about the premises. The coachman cared for the team at the stable while Mr. Marshall started on his tour of inspection.

Taking his deadlatch key, he unlocked the front door and was greeted with these words "You are just the man I was looking for" and at the same time a 32 calibre bulldog revolver was thrust in his face. Mr. Marshall was astounded, and having nothing with which to defend himself, at once notified his coachman. As soon as his back was turned two men sprang out a side door and made haste across the fields. They were followed as far as Oxford Valley, where all trace of them was lost.

Upon returning to the cottage Mr. Marshall found that certain goods had been collected, evidently with the intention to remove them that night, but nothing was missing. In their haste to get away the robbers left their overcoats and gloves.

(Following items from Gazette of Mar. 14, 1901.)

William H. J. Wilson, who for nearly two years has been in Manila as a missionary under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood, is expected home in Bristol this week.

Nearly 200 men and boys are now employed at the Corona Kid Works. On Saturday afternoon at noon a dam on the two mile level of the canal was removed and the water allowed to run out. This was done to enable Supervisor Wilson to make repairs to Ralston's lock at the upper end of the level. As soon as the repairs are completed the water will be let in and the canal opened for navigation.

The following new telephone subscribers are being added to the Bristol exchange: Residences—T. A. Griffiths, Emlen Martin, W. A. Gorton, William E. Doron, Dr. H. Purcell, James Rogers, C. A. Wilson, J. O. Thomas, John N. DeGroot.

A. J. Hibbs, agent, has sold the store and residence property, belonging to S. D. Louderbough, at 324 and 326 Mill street, to John Irwin for $3000. The dry goods and notion business conducted by Mrs. Louderbough will be continued by Mrs. Irwin.

Frederick Peirce, son of Joshua Peirce, belongs to the newly-formed "giants' club" at the University of Pennsylvania (Phila.)

The organization is composed of 12 men, all over 6'2" in height. The club contemplates giving a dance in the near future, to which every lady invited must be under 5'1".

DELINQUENT PARENTS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., — (INS) — The Juvenile Court Judge John F. Cook of Kansas City says neglect of children by parents is the main factor in juvenile delinquency. "The pitiful thing is that the juvenile court has no real power over parents," he adds.

GIFT PAPERS

ITHACA, N. Y., — (INS) — The Collection of Regional History at Cornell has received a gift of papers and scrapbooks of the late William T. Doty, former editor of the Port Jervis Daily Union and Orange County Assemblyman beginning in 1913.

If a New Baby Is Expected

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

THE United States Children's Bureau says the average baby needs the following layette for about the first six months of its life: diapers, 3 to 4 dozen; shirts (long or short sleeves according to climate), 3 or 4; abdominal bands, 3; nightgowns or wrap-pers, 5 or 6; sweaters, 2; flannel squares or baby blankets, 2 or 3; warm hood (if climate is cold), 1.

These requirements appear in "Infant Care," Children's Bureau, Publication 8, United States Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., which is free to expectant parents. This bulletin adds to the above: "Other garments, such as dresses, additional sweaters, and a bunting or other wrap for cold weather, may be good to have but are not essential. It is better to have plenty of diapers, shirts, and nightgowns so that the baby can always have plenty of clean ones." Some doctors prefer to use sterile gauze as a band.

But there's more than material preparedness for the baby—there is your physical and emotional health and happiness. I have prepared a special bulletin, "A Baby Is Expected," to be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper. It is meant for both your husband and you.

Selecting Garments

Now back to clothes for this new baby. Thompson and Rea, in their comprehensive volume on "Clothing for Children," offer standards for selecting garments for the expected baby. Here they are in essence:

The materials should be soft, pliable, absorbent, durable, easily laundered and rarely or never requiring ironing. The clothing should be light in weight but warm enough to keep the infant's body at the normal temperature of 98.6 degrees, with materials and construction affording ventilation.

Easy to Make

The design of the garments should render them easy to put on and remove; if to be home-made, easy to make. The garment should allow freedom of movement, be comfortable, with flat seams and easy, simple fastenings. It should be attractive but without hampering trimmings.

The garment should be safe. Don't therefore, have a draw-string in the neck of the infant's garment, lest it get too tight and strangle him. Avoid ribbons for the same reason. Fuzzy yarns and fur, such as Angora, are bad; the hairs and fibers pull out easily and may get into the baby's eyes, nose and throat.

Safety pins and buttons can be very dangerous. An open safety pin left carelessly about may be swallowed or may scratch the baby's skin and cause infection. When necessary to use safety pins as on diapers, be sure no loose pin is within the infant's reach. Buttons can be broken or left loose from laundry, and thus scratch the baby's skin or be swallowed. Such dangers are reduced somewhat by the use of hard rubber buttons on underclothing and nightwear. Be sure that all buttons when sewed are sewed on securely.

POWER AND PROGRESS go hand in hand

Jobs, payrolls, industrial output... all have forged ahead by leaps and bounds in the five-county Philadelphia area.

And the power supply has more than kept pace.

Back in 1947 Philadelphia Electric launched a $314,000,000 expansion program to provide for the future needs of this busy community. This program, now more than half complete, continues to move forward with giant strides.

By autumn of this year, a new 165,000,000-watt generator will be in operation at Richmond, swelling the total capacity of this plant to 450,000,000 watts an hour, which ranks Richmond among the world's largest power plants.

For the next four years P.E. plans to spend $120,000 every day for added facilities to supply the ever-growing demands of this important Workshop of the World.

WE'RE BUILDING FOR YOUR FUTURE

Your Commentator

By Jim Larkin

I suppose you still incline
To date things "1949".

Perhaps the scientist who recently advanced the theory that the earth began as a whirling cloud of dust and gas, is confusing his hypothesis with childhood memories of early highways and Model T Fords.

KEN KEENE THE CORNER DRUGGIST

Ken tossed this one at me: "If I were to make you a present of a box of cigars, and then tell you that, for my generosity, you must pay me the usual price, plus an additional charge for postage and packing, you would tell me where I could go, but quick". I agreed.

"Well," continued Ken, "that proves that you have better sense than those people who are eager for the supposed gifts of socialization plans and subsidies. They do not spot the gimmick—that the money to pay for these seemingly free benefits comes right out of their own pockets at tax paying time. As they pay more than they should for anything they get. It's awful to be dumb—and it's expensive."

DEFINITIONS IN RHYME

MPEDIMENTA—obstructions to progress, things which hold you back.
et's hope you don't meet any on Nineteen-Fifty's track.

MPINCE (Pronounced like hinge)—to strike as in collision.
o dodge this when you drive should be your stern decision.

A "January thaw" can have treacherous results. When wet roads again ooze, traction hazards are greater. A winter roads never take good action for granted; it might not be ere.

A new little sound amplifying device can make even distant whispers audible. But it still does not equal the power of the telepathic wife. You know—the one who, in debate with a mate, "hears" his unspoken desire and snaps: "I know what you're going to say, and you can just keep it!"

Here's a little trick to try on your armed friends. Ask them to define a word "Time" without using the word in the definition. When they've struggled with it for a while, you can give them the definition: The period during which an action, process or condition continues.

Winter is indoors-time and certain dangers result from the fact. If you have an auxiliary oil heater, be sure it contains the proper fuel and that room ventilation allows admission of fresh air so that you can continue to breathe—and live.

YOU HAVE YOUR SAY

From Miss Barbara Greshbach, student at the University of Wisconsin, comes the following:

I find that any heavy date
That keeps me from the "Dorm"
'til late,
is fun—but it is not the way to keep my grades at a straight A.

A reader suggests that I run "some sort of a contest". Sorry, friend, but I haven't the means to compete with radio and other contests where everything short of "the world with a fence around it" is the prize. In fact, I couldn't even buy the fence.

CHILD NEEDS HELP FOR COPING WITH EMOTIONAL NEEDS

By Miss Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

When a child's emotional needs are satisfactorily met, he will have a balanced, warm, and outgoing personality.

A child needs love, security, and acceptance by his parents; he needs guidance by a person that he loves; and he needs a pattern by which to grow. The responsibility for meeting these three needs rests upon the shoulders of the child's parents, say family life experts, who believe that well-adjusted parents have little difficulty in satisfying these needs in their children.

A child needs the feeling that he is important and needed and that he has a place among his friends. Under crowded living conditions, it often is impossible to find jobs around the house that will give children a chance to assume responsibilities and feel needed and successful. Where space is limited, it may be difficult for the child to find a place for his own things and for entertaining his friends.

Families are social groups in which there are very intimate and personal relationships, often with too little privacy but many demands. Young people see the difference between family and outside relationships without understanding it. They often resent criticism from parents and relatives who demand a higher standard of behavior than is expected outside the home. This situation, with freedom outside and strongly contrasting strictness within, is quite different from the time when the family was the center of life.

Because youth is the non-conformist in contrast with other ages, it follows without thinking the lure of freedom, excitement, and entertainment the community offers. It is very important that the community be aroused to a recognition of the importance of youth and help to provide the fullest measure of proper attractions and satisfactions.

MacMath-Claassen Ceremony Attracts Many at Pennel

PENNDLE, Jan. 16 — A wedding ceremony which attracted a large number of relatives and friends on Saturday evening at the hour of six in Oakhurst Chapel, here, was that of Miss Helen Mae Claassen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Claassen, Durham road, and Mr. Donald G. MacMath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert MacMath, Madison avenue.

The clergyman who officiated was the Rev. Curtis Loux. Mr. Claassen escorted his daughter to the altar as Miss Thelma Eaton, Washington, D. C., provided organ music. Vocalist Mr. Charles David Baker, Langhorne, sang: "At Dawning," "You'll Always be Sweetheart to Me," and "God Gave Me You."

As maid of honor Miss Marjorie Claassen, sister of bride, was attired in American beauty tone; and the bridesmaids as follows: Miss Irene Loux, Langhorne, and Miss Olive Tenne, Pennel, aqua; Miss Isabelle Schmitt, Middletown township, and Miss Alice Lynn Claassen, Brooklyn, N. Y., gold tone. Gowns of these young women were of satin. The flower girls, "Connie" and "Christie" Loux, Langhorne, also wore aqua satin. Candle lighters were Mrs. Robert Taylor and Miss Ruth Oakley.

Other members of the bridal party were: Best man, Mr. Walter MacMath, Langhorne, brother of the bridegroom; ushers, Messrs. Roy Loux, Langhorne; Earl Schlachter, Newtown; Lester Craven, Langhorne Manor; and Donald LeC. Haefer, Hulmeville.

The bride was attractively gowned in white satin, trimmed with lace and satin ruffles, this being entrain. Her veil was finger-tip length, and her costume was completed by a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and a white Bible on which rested a cluster of white roses.

Approximately 200 guests gathered in the Sunday School auditorium for the reception which followed.

Choice of Mrs. Claassen for the wedding was a gown of fuchsia lace over taffeta, accessories being in gold; while Mrs. MacMath, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in gray silk with matching accessories.

The bride graduated from George School, Newtown; and Mr. MacMath from Langhorne-Middletown high school. They will reside at 145 E. Maple Avenue, Langhorne.

New Hearing Device Has No Receiver Button In Ear

Chicago, Ill. — Deafened people are hailing a new device that gives them clear hearing without a receiver button in the ear. They now enjoy songs, sermons, friendly companionship and business success with no self-conscious feeling that people are looking at a button hanging on their ear. Tiny Phantomoid fits so deep within the ear that it is hardly seen. Sound is relayed to it by an inconspicuous tube from a button concealed in the clothing. The makers of Bel-tone, Dept. 49, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement they will gladly send you their free brochure (in plain wrapper) and explain how you can test this amazing device in your own home without risking a penny. Well, actually, it wasn't imported. The lady bought it at a reliable local store (on her Boyd card), and it was a better dress than many imported ones. She expected to get a lot of service from it. In selecting a cleaner, therefore, she wisely chose THOMAS TAYLOR, because everyone told her "T" would give her dress loving care.

ROHM & HAAS HANDS 5TH WARD STINGING DEFEAT

Rohm and Haas chalked up its first triumph of the season last night as it handed the Fifth Ward Sporting Club a stinging 45-41 defeat in a Bristol Basketball League game on the chemical mixers' court at Maple Beach.

For the first time this season, the R. & H. team had enough stamina to make a brilliant comeback in the final quarter. Previous games were lost when the chemical mixers faltered in the last half of the game. Last night, it was Fifth Ward who went on the downgrade in the second half, especially the final quarter. Going into the finale, the Warders had a 36-29 edge on the boys of Jack Stein. But Don DeLong, "Angie" Everett, and Pat Carvane accounted for 16 points in the last quarter while only Dick Hogan scored a pair of double-digits for Fifth Ward.

In fact, Hogan scored a two-pointer early in the period to increase the lead to 38-29. But the Maple Beach contingent kept pecking at the lead and when DeLong scored twice in succession, the knot whittled to 38-37. Everett knotted the count with a two-pointer under the basket and followed with a foul field to put Rohm and Haas in front, 40-39, after Hogan scored for the Warders. DeLong's double-decker was the clincher.

Don DeLong registered nine double-digits and a foul to account for 19 Rohm and Haas points while Everett staged a fine comeback in the second half to boost his score for the night to 11 points after being held to a solitary field goal in the first half.

Hogan had 17 points for Fifth Ward with "Chick" Angelo getting 9.

HIBERNIANS TIE FRANKLIN SCORE SIX TIMES IN GAME

The Hibernians-Franklin game was tied six times last night but in the last four minutes the Franklin team staged a spurt which enabled them to beat the Hibernians, 44-40, in a Bristol Basketball League match on the Rohm and Haas court.

The game was close throughout and at times the defense of both teams tightened considerably. In the third period, the Hibs closed in on Franklin so tight that the "Frankies" could not make a field goal, although they dumped five out of six fouls. Franklin played "Johnny" Rodgers close enough to hold him to but one field goal which was made in the closing minutes of the game.

The offensive attack of Franklin being shattered in the third session enabled the Hibs to take a 34-30 lead. It was three points by Joe Roe that gave the Big Green the edge. But shortly after the final quarter got under way, "Rabbit" Palumbo deadlocked the score with a foul at 37-37. DeLise put Franklin in front with a two-pointer. The game was then tied up by Rodgers but Leinski's foul put Franklin ahead again. DeLise dropped in a two-pointer followed by one by Stan Leinski which sewed up the tilt.

"Billy" Ennis hit the double figures in the scoring column for the Hibs with 12 points while DeLise, Leinski, and "Bill" Wallack paced the winners.

Wednesday night, Profy's will meet Tullytown and Fifth Ward clashes with the Hibernians.
